

A BELLEFIELD SERMON SERIES

On Sundays at both 8:30am and 11:00am, Rev. Jay Slocum will be leading us in the next sermon series:

VISION 2012

As one of the most fragile of species, young children do not often know where they are going. They need guidance, support and a clear vision from their parents to guide them into adulthood. If properly guided, children can and do grow into adults who become capable of navigating life. One of the sure signs of being a grown up is knowing where you are going. This next sermon series, we will be focusing on VISION. God's vision for His world, His children and His church. This series will help us to see God's glorious vision for our future and will allow us to grow into the kind of people who will be able to navigate life in ways that keep us from being lost.
